INCOMPAS Statement on FCC Set Top Box Delay

WASHINGTON DC (September 29th, 2016) – The FCC announced today they plan to reschedule the critical vote to bring set-top box competition and consumer relief to American families.

In response, Chip Pickering, CEO of INCOMPAS, released the following statement:

“Competition is the law, and the FCC has an obligation to continue working toward solutions that bring real choice, innovation and lower prices to consumers. The members of the commission are smart, well intentioned, and we believe they will find common ground that will open the market and promote innovation. For competition to rise, the set-top box monopoly must fall, and we look forward to working with all members of the FCC toward this shared goal.”
